

Melton To Speak Here For Religious Emphasis Week

Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored by the YWCA, will be observed next week, October 12-15. Dr. John W. Melton, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Rome, will be the principal speaker.

Senior Chaperones For Fall Selected

Senior chaperones for underclassmen during fall quarter have been announced. They are:

CGA To Discuss Scholarship

The scholarship committee of the CGA, headed by Elizabeth Horne, is planning their year's program, based on the results of last year's classroom discussions concerning scholarship.

Other students who are compiling the results of the survey are Martha Lois Roberts, Ann Estes, Betty Jordan, and Dr. Paul Bossen.

An effort will be made this year to:

1. Define scholarship.
2. Eliminate as many as possible existing obstacles to scholarship.
3. Give students aid on the correct method to study, including the correct way to study for tests.
4. Improve studying facilities.

The opening program of the week will be held in Russell auditorium next Monday morning, at the regularly scheduled assembly period. There will be two meetings each day, one at 11:00 a.m., another at 7:00 in the evening.

Parleys will be conducted in the dormitories each night at 10:30. These discussions, based on subjects vital to the students and subjects emphasized by Dr. Melton in his addresses, will be led by the local ministers and several faculty members.

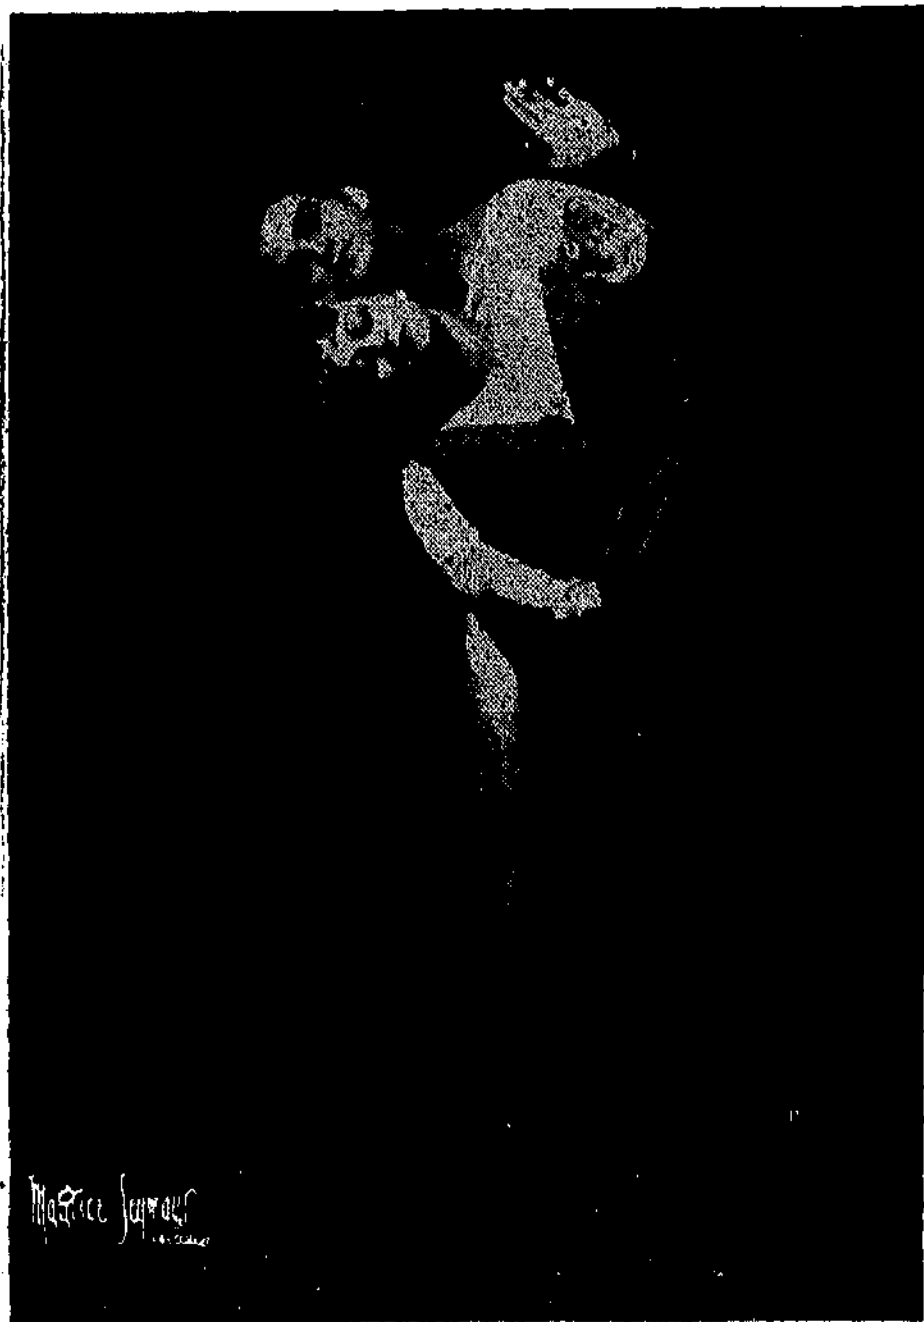

Dr. Melton is a graduate of Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., and of Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga. At their last spring commencement, Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., conferred on him an honorary degree as Doctor of Divinity. Dr. Melton now holds a pastorate at Rome, Ga., and is head of the department of religious education for the Presbyterian church in Georgia.

Miss Donovan Is New Dean At NGC

Miss Alice Donovan has resigned her position here as house-mother of Terrell E-C to accept a position as dean of women at North Georgia College, Dahlonega. She had been housemother here for a year and a half.

June Ragsdale Leads YWCA Discussion

June Ragsdale led a discussion on prayer at YWCA Cabinet Wednesday night in the Y apartment. The talk was based on George A. Buttrick's new book, entitled "Prayer."

Grace and Kurt Graft will be the featured dancers here October 21st. This concert will be under the auspices of the Milledgeville Concert Association.

Honor System Swept In By Ninety Percent Student Vote

Three Classes Score Victory Vote Is Well Over Majority

The senior, junior, and sophomore classes voted to operate under the Honor System, Martha Lois Roberts, chairman of the Honor Council announced late yesterday afternoon. A vote was taken in chapel Friday morning.

The freshman class, in their individual instructional units, vote on the system next week.

Strong Vote

A vote of 90 per cent is necessary in order for the classes to operate under the Honor System. Since these three classes have voted in the affirmative, then individual instructional units will automatically be subject to the honor system.

A sophomore affirmative vote of 96.9 per cent indicated a strong favoritism for the system. This trend was supported by the juniors with a 92.6 per cent vote and the seniors who voted 96.3 per cent strong.

Sophomore pledges signed numbered 257 out of a possible 265 (number of sophomore students enrolled). Of the 149 juniors, 140 voted for the system. Statistics of the senior class reveal that only nine of the 135 students enrolled, failed to sign in favor of the system. Only seniors who are taking courses this quarter were eligible to vote yesterday.

Freshmen to Vote

Honor Week will be observed next week, when the Honor System will be presented to the instructional units, composed of freshmen students. Providing that 90 per cent of the students in each instructional unit votes for it, the group will operate under this system.

The Honor System is a part of College Government this year, instead of a separate organization, as formerly. Under the new set-up, the most serious cases will be referred to Upper Court.

Roberts Heads Group

Martha Lois Roberts is chairman of the Honor Council. Other student members are June Cleveland, senior; Jeanne Peterson, junior; and Alicetyn Wade, sophomore. A freshman member will be selected next quarter.

Dean Hoy Taylor, Dr. James Stokes, and Miss Blanche Tait are faculty advisers.

YWCA To Present Recognition Service

The YWCA will hold a recognition program Sunday night for all new members of the organization. Edythe Trappnell, president, will preside over the candle light service, which will be held in Russell auditorium at 8:30.

Annual Hike

The annual hike, formerly scheduled for October 14, has been postponed until October 20, according to an announcement made this week.

Wallace Is Elected Junior President

Lottie Wallace, only nominee in the race, was elected president of the junior class in the primary election Wednesday. She received 41 votes.

Other students, whose names were written on the ballots were Evelyn Jones, Ethel Hembree, Louise Thrash, and Frances Walker.

The office of junior president was left vacant because Jane Bowden, elected last spring, did not return to GSCW this fall.

Seniors Vote On Code For 1942-43

Members of the senior class have written and voted on the code which has been submitted to the Student Faculty Relations committee for final approval.

After group discussion among the seniors, each person had the opportunity to submit suggestions for the code. June Ragsdale, Carolyn Wilson, and Nina Wiley wrote the code.

Seniors Plan Fall Quarter Socials

The fall quarter socials for the seniors and chairmen for each have been announced. They are:

Faculty coffee, October 11, Clara Nell Smith, chairman; informal dance, October 17, Jewel Byrl Lanier; formal dinner, October 21, Virginia Crawford; senior dance, November 14, Norma Durdin and Marguerite Threadgill; informal dance, December 12, Rosanne Chaplin; White Christmas, December 11; Betty Jordan.

College Theatre To Present Play Nov. 5

"Letters to Lucerne," a play by Fritz Rotter and Allen Vincent will be presented by the College Theatre November 5th.

Season tickets to the plays this year are 55 cents for students, and 90 cents for faculty members.

Faculty Honored

Members of the college faculty will be honored at a coffee, given by the seniors, Sunday afternoon at 4-6 o'clock in Senford hall.

Registrar Announces Present Enrollment

The 1942 enrollment for the fall quarter numbers 244 students less than the enrollment for the fall quarter, 1941, according to figures compiled by the Registrar. As compared to the 1189 girls enrolled in 1941, there are 945 students here this fall. The figures as to classes are as follows:

In 1941, 463 freshmen in 1942, 382 freshmen; 279 sophomores last year as compared to 265 this year; 212 juniors last fall, 149 juniors now; 235 seniors in 1941, 149 seniors this fall.

Josephine Bone Named Librarian

Josephine Bone, former president of the YWCA, has been appointed loan librarian in the GSCW library. Miss Bone fills the vacancy created by Mrs. Longino Little, the former Florence Hartman, who resigned to marry Lieut. Little last spring. Miss Bone received her bachelor of arts degree from GSCW in 1941 and her master of arts in history from the University of North Carolina in 1942.

Membership In Jesters Explained

Announcement has been made by the speech department of the regulation concerning membership into Jesters, which is gained by working a specified number of hours on the College Theatre productions, not by participating in try-outs.

The try-outs are held at the beginning of each year for the purpose of classifying the dramatic possibilities of the student body. The classification is used for reference in selecting the casts for the plays and does not determine membership.

This explanation is made to acknowledge and correct an error made last week by the Colonnade staff in regard to new members in the Jesters.

BSU COUNCIL MEMBERS

Myra Scott has been elected second vice president of BSU and Bobbie Roberts, treasurer.

Last Years Graduates Wed, Type, Teach, Censor

Attention GSC: Guess Again

By HAZEL SMITH

I have a spotless background. I am old but my age is not noticeable. I help make life at GSCW more enjoyable. I am in plain view of everyone, especially the nightwatchman.

Trucks rumble by me, skates whizz over me. The town clock disturbs my rest. I keep time when soldiers march and Jimmies parade. On special occasions I am gaudily decorated. I form a meeting place for everyone.

I have tasted rain's cold liquid. I have absorbed the sun's warm rays. I have felt the shuffle of hundreds of feet. I have felt the "bumps" of children's wheels. I have smelled hot dogs from "Tommy's" and pop corn popping from the theatre. I have seen the fashions come and go. I have seen buses leaving for home. I have heard the juke-box from afar. I have heard lover's soft "Goodnight." For I am Snow's corner!

RED CROSS CLASS

About October 15th another course in Red Cross nutrition work will be taught on the GSCW campus. This course will be under the direction of Mrs. Artie Bell Lowe of the Peabody School faculty.

Emily Hahn's "Mr. Pan" Tells How The War Has Effected Chinese Life

By NINA WILEY

Emily Hahn, who wrote "The Soong Sisters," has written a refreshingly different book about China, "Mr. Pan." By telling of the friendship of Mr. Pan and an American woman, who teaches English in a Chinese school, she depicts the qualities of the Chinese and the effects of the war.

Mr. Pan is not an outstanding figure; neither is he one of the overwhelming masses. He has not been called the Mr. Smith of China. He has the patience, stoicism, family troubles, impracticality and faith in his people which one expects of the Chinese.

Emily Hahn shows Mr. Pan at home, at work, at play; she shows his family life, his inapplicable business transactions, and his reaction to the war, so impracticable to other than Oriental eyes.

Although he was educated at Oxford, Mr. Pan rejected western culture for the satisfaction he found in his own way of life. His cleavage to things Chinese, the strong bonds which hold the family together, his conviction that the ultimate defeat of his country and his people is impossible, gives faith in the strength of the Chinese as one of the greatest of freedom loving races.

Keeping Fit Physical Fitness Program To Be Daily Feature At GSCW

By PEARL CULLIFER

Physical Fitness Day has come and gone, but physical fitness is here to stay! The crusade to step up the physical endurance of Miss GSCW has just begun. She must keep fit so that her body will be able to stand up under the multiple strains and tasks of war. Outdoor exercise is the key to such fitness and if a person has the will-power, she can find time for daily exercise.

Each student must choose what she enjoys doing and do it! Physical illiteracy shall be banished from GSCW, and our college shall have 1000 physically educated girls.

The Recreation Association offers a well-planned and well-rounded recreational program. There is something of interest for everyone. Students should look over the Recreational Calendar and find time to participate in at least one activity each day.

There are six skill clubs which are very anxious to have new members since many members failed to return this year. Announcement for tryouts will be made. Each girl is urged to tryout for at least two of these clubs. They are: Cotillion

Students Teach At Peabody, Midway

Dr. Harry A. Little, head of the education department, has announced the names of GSCW students who are practicing teaching in the Peabody high and elementary schools, and at Midway this quarter.

Student teachers in the elementary school are: Helen James, Kathryn Amerson, second grade; Margaret Overton, Betty Shaw, Frances DuPre, third grade; Marian Brown, fourth grade.

The following are teaching in the high school:

Mada McDonald, French; Carolyn Osborn, general shop class; Nina Wiley, American culture; June Ragsdale, Latin I; Rachel Irvine, tenth grade service English; Wynelle Shadburn, physical education; Mary Curry, senior home economics; Marguerite Jones, Louise Wallace, personal-ity group (home economics); Elizabeth Williams, ninth grade home economics.

Students that are teaching at Midway include:

Rebecca Mulligan, typing; Helen Burton, English; Dorothy Beckum, Daisy Eubanks, social science; and Alma Ivey, elementary school.

Norma Durden, Elizabeth Ann Bell, and Florence Kitchens are practicing teaching in music at the Peabody school.

Students Live In Vinson, Tigner

Twelve senior home economics students are living in the home management houses, Tigner and Vinson, the first six weeks of the fall quarter. They are:

Vinson—Lila Tanner, Sybil Lindsey, Faye Hubbard, Sara Frances McLendon, Aileen Cross, and Mildred Ennis.

Tigner—Elizabeth Craig, Mary Ruth Foster, Ruth Ritchie, Christine Williamson, Rebecca Horne, and LaTrelle Allison.

Faculty members living in the houses are Miss Lois Adams, Tigner; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson Comer, Vinson.

Decreased Enrollment

The announcement of the present enrollment may alarm some people. However, a decrease of 244 students will not necessitate a serious change in the cooperation of the college. Many schools have decreased in enrollment, some much more severely than this college.

Obviously, the major causes for a smaller enrollment are the conditions prevalent in war time. Countless jobs, made more attractive by larger salaries, are available. Many students, not only from GSCW, but from schools throughout the nation, have left their colleges to accept such positions, many of which are federal jobs. In some cases this is wise, in others, to the contrary. Yet it has happened, and it is continuing to happen.

Some former GSCW students, though not an unreasonable number, have transferred to other colleges.

In regard to the present situation, no serious results are evident. Perhaps this is just a tactful compromise with those individuals who have maintained that GSCW is too large for them.

Religious Emphasis

This year there is a greater need for religious emphasis than there has been in former years. We are living in a changing world—one filled with greater confusion and distress than our generation has ever experienced. Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored by the YWCA, will be observed on the campus next week. It should be much more than an annual program scheduled on the college calendar. If it is to be worthy of its title, this series of programs will be significant in this period of world-wide conflict.

There is a definite need for religious emphasis in the world, but analytically speaking there is a need for religious emphasis in our individual lives. Pessimism is out of order in this today; but serious and realistic thinking on religion and other vital subjects is a definite need of the day. Thinking and talking are insufficient, but they are essential. They need to be followed up with good works.

We should support the YWCA in its endeavors next week, not because they are offering an annual program, but because we as individuals need what is presented in emphasizing religion. We, alone, do not have the power to operate this world, but we, in America have the privilege of acknowledging God, who has dominion over all.

Good Manners

What is there about the dash and hurry of college life which makes us forget, at least partially, all that our mothers taught us about human relations (good manners, of course)? Why must we forget that we were reared in what we affectionately call the "old south"? "The old south" was the last strong-hold of chivalry. Here, a person might be anything he chose so long as an innate politeness was deeply engrained in his personality.

All of us know that we immediately place a boy who shoves himself through a door before us on our personal "black-list." If any little thing like that ruins our impression of a boy—date or not—is it not equally true of other person's, boy or girl, impressions of us might be similarly marred?

The CGA good manners committee is about to inaugurate a program of which the foremost aim is to repolish the manners of the average GSCW girl: to make us courtesy conscious in our everyday lives. This committee realizes, along with us, that we are not unmannered or even ill-mannered and that we have Sunday manners which we drag out for our elders and put away, sometimes, around our contemporaries. We must not even attempt to establish a sort of "After you, my dear Gaston... No, I beg of you to precede, my dear Alphonse" stiffness in our lives here, but if we cooperate with the committee, we can make our lives more gracious.

The immediate results of Physical Fitness Day

Oh, How We Hate To Get Up The Week After Being Fit

By JEWELL WILLIE

Just as last Saturday was Physical Fitness Day, today is un-Physical Fitness Day. Has there ever been such a week? Sunday, I believe was worse than the other day. We, please don't tell me I am alone in this, were in such a dire state that getting out of bed was torture of inquisitorial intensity. Every muscle in our collective anatomies were corroded by every fatigue acid ever invented. We behaved like homing pigeons every time we beheld a pillow—or even a chair.

Of course, Monday was better, but dark gloom shrouded the thought of having to SIT UP in classes. We may have been PHYSICALLY fit but we were MENTALLY incompetent. How did our poor teachers, who had done nothing Saturday about their physical fitness, have the endurance to tackle classes such as were set before them.

The rest of the week has been sort of inconsequential because we've been in a state of semi-torpor since it dawned on us that we actually exerted ourselves—and physically at that. Guess it was partially the dull, continuing aching even around our lower maxillaries that took the edge off our sensibilities. If we'd thought about it sometime before—well, right now, for instance—any time before we could relax and enjoy our misery, we would've been dead ducks by now.

Of course we've been pointing morals about "physical fitness ought to be a daily affair to be effective"—that is we pointed them when we weren't limping as much as the other fellow. Aren't we really pictures of health? Don't answer that! Pass the Absorbine, Jr. before it's all gone!

Words Have Lost Their Punch

This war is too big for superlative words like "appalling," "devastating," and "annihilating." Such words have been so overworked they've lost their punch, in opinion of Dr. Gilbert Murray, president of the International Committee of Intellectual Cooperation. He thinks a return to simplicity in description, to the restraint of understatement, would be more graphic.

Dr. Murray sees the war drama as being so vast the human mind is not able to comprehend it—its reality so great reason can not cope with it.

"The war has produced a greater number of special words and overworked words than the last war did," he said. "The shock of horror vocabulary was tremendous at first, but gradually it has lost much of its meaning. No matter how deeply affected people may be by the reports of bloodshed on the war fronts, the interminable repetition of shock-clashes defeats its purpose in the end.—(ACP)

Campus Fashions

By HAZEL SMITH

Helen Hall comes decked out in a soft red wool dress. It has a flared skirt and pockets. There is a black velvet appliqued butterfly on the left shoulder and right pocket.

Jane Sparks matches a suit with her hair. The skirt is flared and the jacket is fitted. She wears a green sweater and socks.

Speaking of suits, Elizabeth Reddick has a collection of them. One outstanding one is a red wool, with a flared skirt and roomy coat. She wears a blue sweater and saddles with it.

Since the subject has gotten around to suits, we'll mention Morton Appling's royal blue one. The jacket has four pockets. She chooses a soft pink sweater to wear with it.

Brown was prominent this week, especially for brown skirts. Joyce Tufts and Martha Johnson wear pink sweaters with theirs, while Cat LeRoy wears a brown shirt and green corduroy jerkin with hers.

The World This Week

By IVIE LEE SMITH

While war continues to hold the neighboring continents in its mire, our own nation is taking slow steps toward a still retreating victory.

Late Saturday news came to citizens of these United States that our Chief Executive has issued further orders toward bringing our nation under a more rigid control. During the past month the price level in the United States has risen two-thirds of one per cent. This fact alone shows how fast our people were being reaped by inflation before it was finally curbed.

President Roosevelt's provision for stabilizing the cost of living includes briefly, the following:

James F. Byrnes, previously a Supreme Court justice, was appointed director of economic stabilization.

Civilian purchasing power, prices, rents, wages, salaries, profits, rationing, subsidies and all related matters were brought under control of the board.

Specific restrictions were placed on wage and salary increases and decreases governed by the levels between January 1 and September 15.

Nationwide stabilization of farm prices and rents was established.

Greater Appreciation

The student body, as a whole, enjoys some good music, as evidenced by the students' reception for Mr. Hugh Hodgson Wednesday night. To what extent this music appreciation exists, it is impossible to determine. However, it is true that we, as college students, do not have the appreciation for the fine arts that we should have.

Mr. Hodgson's informal descriptions of the selections that he plays enlist the audiences' interest and following. Until this is achieved continually, individuals cannot raise the level of their appreciation for the arts very much. This presentation Wednesday night was the beginning of what we hope to be a decidedly greater appreciation for good music and the other arts among the students of the campus.
